

LIFE PULSE : Bringing Intentionality Back To Life

A New Way Of Thinking

Offering Sustainable Solutions To Increase Performance Regardless Of The Circumstance

What Is Life Pulse?

About The Challenge We Overcome

The work-from-home imperative that began in 2020 will have lasting implications for companies juggling both corporate & employee needs. Meeting both corporate financial goals & individual goals can feel like a mismatch between manager expectations & the team's wants.

In a recent study, it was found that 40% of supervisors and managers were skeptical of staff staying motivated long-term. They expressed low self-confidence in their ability to manage in this "new" workplace. Life Pulse has developed a way to integrate structure & intention to power both corporate & personal performance.

Your personnel will make or break your company. Your competitors will experience the same external issues as you do. It is clear that those who will rise up, are the ones with both internal structure and intention that empowers their team to thrive through growth and change.

Life Pulse helps clients like you - rise to the challenge.

About The Founder & Lead Trainer

Matt Granados - an Entrepreneur, #1 International Bestselling Author, and World Renowned Speaker/Trainer. As he grew his first business into a multi-million organization in his early 20's, he continued to grow this organization to reach over $40 Million dollar in sales. Matt realized the key to this success was connecting intention of individuals with a structure that was simple to implement.

All of Life Pulse's teachings are run through three filters before ever offering it to the public: Business, Personal, and Family. Matt has discovered that ANYTHING that we teach, must be able to work in all areas. This is why the teachings of Life Pulse stick with the audience and why these solutions are sustainably implemented long after the teaching and coaching is completed.
